About: Proactive, detailed, determined and always seeking to improve myself. Seeking my first opportunity as a junior developer! Currently, I am studying programming and studying Pure and Applied Mathematics as a master student at Federal University of Santa Catarina (UFSC). I wish to have contact with the different areas of the profession, with the goal of finding out which fits better my profile. I have already done web projects with Python, HTML, CSS and JavaScript (available at my GitHub repository).

Goals

I want to work in a place where I can always improve myself. I wish to have contact with the different areas of the profession before specializing in one area/language. I am interested in working with programming languages, frameworks and tools which I do not have prior experience. I seek to work in the state of Santa Catarina (Brazil) or remotely.
